TRAGEDY IN CITY THURSDAY NIGHT

Occurred Near Corner of Blish and Seventh Streets.—Walter Robbins Shot and Killed.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS MURDER

No Arrests Have Been Made, Though Officers Are Working on Important Clues.

Walter Robbins, generally known as "Handsome" Robbins, was shot and killed about 11 o'clock Thursday night near the corner of Blish and Seventh streets.

It is not known who the murderer was. The killing is shrouded in mystery and though the police, the prosecutor and coroner have been busy investigating the tragedy, examining persons who it was thought might furnish valuable information, and in running down clues, no arrests have yet been made. Suspicion does not yet strongly point toward any particular person, though it is believed one or two persons know more than they have revealed to the officers.

Mrs. Robbins, widow of the murdered man, who says he left her but a few moments before the fatal shot was fired, has told her story, but it does not clear the mystery. She was questioned last night by the officers and this morning visited the city hall and told her story again.

She said that she spent the evening at the carnival grounds with her sister-in-law and though she saw her husband there several times, was in his company but little and left the grounds with her sister-in-law about 10 o'clock. She saw her husband near Third and Chestnut streets and again met him on Ewing street and from there they started to their home, they having been staying recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Allman, on Seventh street between Blish and Seventh streets. They went from Ewing east on Fourth to Blish and then north to Seventh street. At that corner she says they saw two young men sitting on the corner. Both wore light caps and one wore a dark suit and the other a light suit. The young men did not speak as they passed and she did not recognize them. After she and her husband had turned and gone a short distance west on Seventh, he left her with the remark that he would go back and speak to the boys and she thought as he went back she heard him use the word "Clark" in addressing one of them. She went into the house, leaving the door ajar, as she expected him to come in soon.

A few moments later she heard a shot fired and her husband make a sound as though calling. She ran from the house and to the Blish street corner and then north, seeing the young men going in that direction toward the Southeastern tracks.

She ran to the home of her aunt, Mrs. Willard Clark, about a square north of Seventh. After telling the family that her husband had been killed, she hurried back along Blish toward Seventh. A short distance south of the latter she found the body of her husband lying under a tree near the sidewalk. She screamed and this, with the alarm which had been caused in the neighborhood by the firing of the shot, soon drew a crowd to the scene. News of the tragedy was telephoned to police headquarters and officers soon arrived. Will Hustedt, undertaker, was sent for also and he took charge of the body and it was taken to his establishment. It remained there until about 9 o'clock this morning when it was taken to the home on Seventh street. Following the tragedy the officers worked the remainder of the night on the case.

This morning they questioned Mrs. Robbins at the city building and two young men, Ray Clark, and Arthur Manning, were also examined. The young men easily proved their whereabouts Thursday night and that they had no information to give regarding the tragedy. H. L. McHargue and others who live in the neighborhood of Blish and Seventh, state that immediately following the shooting, they heard some one running north toward the railroad tracks. One woman opened her door just as a man ran through her yard toward the railroad.

Lou Becker, a city mail carrier, lives near the Allman home and has furnished some evidence which may prove of value though it does not corroborate Mrs. Robbins' story fully as to time. Returning home from lodge he passed through the park and as he neared Seventh street, some one stepped from the shadow of a tree and looked at him. It was Robbins and after speaking to him, Becker went on home and as he entered the door glanced at the clock and noticed it was 10:25. This was about three minutes after the park meeting. About 30 minutes later he heard the shot fired.

One man says he saw Mr. and Mrs. Robbins on Chestnut between Second and Third street he says, about 10:30 and she called her husband across the street and some words were exchanged between them which did not seem to be of an entirely pleasant nature.

At the carnival grounds Thursday evening Robbins made statements to two or three friends which indicated that he was anticipating trouble with two men and the officers have been working on this clue.

Coroner Frank Dowden arrived from Brownstown early this morning and began his investigation. His examination of Robbins' body showed that he had been shot close to the heart. The bullet which was removed, was found to have been fired from a 38 revolver. The coroner began his inquest this afternoon but it is not expected that he will return any verdict today. The examination may possibly continue two or three days before the verdict is returned.

Mayor Swope, deputy prosecutor Albert Kasting and Marshal Abell were holding a court of inquiry this afternoon. Mrs. Robbins was called again and was questioned very closely on many points. Others were also examined. The officers are working on some important new clues this afternoon which it is hoped will lead to a solution of the mystery and an arrest. They have secured some information which they are withholding at present. It is reported there was an eye witness of the shooting and the officers are working to obtain the name of the party. The latter was not involved in the tragedy and is only wanted to give information.

Walter Robbins, the young man who was murdered, was 22 years of age and was a son of Arthur Robbins, formerly of this city, but now living in Indianapolis. He was born in Scottsburg but had spent most of his life in Seymour. During the past two years he has been in Indianapolis part of the time. He was married about one year ago and a considerable part of the time since the couple have lived with his and her parents. A month ago he went to Indianapolis and remained there until two weeks ago when he returned to Seymour. He has worked as a chicken dresser at the poultry houses much of the time during the past few years.

DIED.

HEINRICH.—Miss Mary Heinrich, who during the past seven and a half years, served as the housekeeper for Rev. Father Conrad, of this city, died last night at her former home, St. Magdalen, Ripley county. About two weeks ago she was summoned to attend the funeral of a deceased sister at St. Magdalen and a few days ago was stricken with pneumonia which in the end proved fatal. The deceased was comparatively well known in this city and her friends regret her untimely demise. The remains will be interred in the cemetery at St. Magdalen, the date of the funeral to be announced later.

KELSCH.—Edith Lenore, the 11 months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kelsch, of Pine street, died Friday morning. The remains will be taken to Four Corners Saturday morning for burial.

Died at Tunnelton.

John Jackson, a Civil war veteran, died Thursday forenoon at his home in Tunnelton following an illness of several years.

He was 75 years of age and was born in Monroe county but had lived in the vicinity of Tunnelton the greater part of his life. He was a farmer until ill health compelled his retirement from active work a few years ago.

During the war, he served in Co. G, 4th Indiana cavalry and was mustered out with the regiment at Edgefield, Tenn. June 26, 1865.

Mr. Jackson's wife has been dead several years. Three daughters survive, Mrs. Maud Childers, of Mitchell, Mrs. Stella Plummer of Elwood and Mrs. Ertie Eker of Tunnelton.

The funeral services were held this afternoon at the Tunnelton church.

SEYMOUR MAN GIVES STORY

Of the Battle of Lookout Mountain, the Fight Above the Clouds.

ONE OF GREATEST STRUGGLES

Of the Civil War.—Recent Visit to Scene of Battle By Seymour Veteran.

A recent trip through Tennessee and Georgia gave the writer an opportunity of visiting three of the important battle-fields of the civil war, viz, Lookout Mountain, where our men fought above the clouds; Missionary Ridge and Chickamauga, all of which are in the vicinity of Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Lookout Mountain is about two miles almost south of the city; Missionary Ridge is southeast of the city and only about two miles away; Chickamauga is about twelve miles a little southeast of the city, and is reached by electric cars. The government has a military post on part of the battle ground, and makes a hoosier think of Fort Benjamin Harrison, located near Indianapolis.

Lookout Mountain is narrow and long very abrupt on the north and west sides, and stands at an elevation of twenty-seven hundred feet above the level of the sea. On a clear day seven states can be seen from its peak.

This mountain was thought to be invulnerable by the best military men of the south, and even Jefferson Davis, the President of the Southern Confederacy, said in an address he made to the officers and men of the southern army who defended this position: "There are not enough yankee soldiers south of Mason and Dixon's line to take this mountain." He was concurred in by all the military men who were acquainted with its abrupt approaches and its fortifications, and defended by its brave officers and men, inspired as they were by the thought of fighting for home and native land.

On the north the mountain has a long stretch of perpendicular cliffs sixty feet high, and further south on the west side the mountain is broken by rocks, gorges, trees, and the approach from this point is well nigh impossible. With this conviction, the federals did not attempt to fortify this side of the mountain except with guns planted on top of the mountain with which they guarded any approach from the valley, and also their guns guarded against General Hooker's army crossing the Tennessee River which winds through this valley. This river is half a mile wide, and is about two miles from the mountain base, but from the top of the mountain, it looks to be about thirty feet wide.

General Rosecrans with his army, was shut up in Chattanooga with little prospect of being allowed to escape the grasp of the Confederate commander. Hooker's army was lying several miles to the west behind another range of mountains and just out of range of the guns of the Confederates. The Tennessee River lay between Hooker's command and the Mountain fortress. The Confederate forces in the vicinity and in supporting distance, were watching the Federal commanders ready to checkmate any move that might be made to re-enforce Rosecrans, or any attempt to strike at any one division of the Confederate army.

General Hooker and his officers planned an attack on Lookout Mountain that for wisdom in the planning and courage in the execution, has few precedents in history.

To make this plan of attack all the more hazardous, a small division of the Confederates were located at the base of the mountain and the river to avoid any surprise from an assault from that direction, and they were equipped with field artillery and earth works.

The Federal plan of attack on the Mountain was, men were placed in pontoon boats and quietly moored down the river at a point where they would be unobserved by the enemy (it being night) and they relieved the enemies pickets, made a flank movement to the south and came in between the confederates located in the valley and the mountain, and when they woke to the fact that they were surrounded by the Federals, and all hope of their escape was gone, they threw down their guns and surrendered. There were about twenty-one hundred of these confederates.

The next part of this desperate plan, was to scale the mountain. By this time our men were being reinforced by Hooker's command. How could they scale the mountain from that side with cliffs sixty feet high, and had they brought no outfit for this kind of work? The New York troops who were in the line that fronted this high cliff, threw down their guns and cut young trees and trimmed off the limbs, leaving the stubs long enough to climb up on, and they lashed these together until they had them long enough to reach the top, and up these crude ladders they went to the top and planted the flag of the Union on the top of Umbrella Rock, the highest point on the mountain, and that was the signal that the mountain was taken and the enemy driven from what they had boasted was an impregnable fortress. One has to see the mountain and view its advantages as a military defense to appreciate the great fact of the Union Army in capturing it as they did. Veteran.

MANY DEALERS

Will Adopt a New Plan of Buying Eggs.

A conference was held Thursday at the Grand hotel in Indianapolis between H. E. Barnard, State Pure Food Commissioner, and about thirty members of the Indiana and Western Poultry Association. As a result, many dealers in the state will adopt a new plan of buying eggs to eliminate the bad ones at the seller's loss.

Instead of buying eggs by the crate from farmers and hucksters without examination, dealers hereafter will buy only upon approval and will pay only for those eggs that are good. Mr. Barnard made it plain that his department intends to prosecute rigidly under the statute passed by the recent Legislature.

"The farmer, the huckster and the dealer will be prosecuted alike," said he. "The fact that the party has bad eggs in his possession, will be conclusive evidence of guilt. Any rot or spot on an egg is bad. The department will issue special orders to health officers throughout the state to look out for bad eggs, as the season for bad eggs is on. Placards warning the trade of the department's intentions already have been sent out."

The egg dealers complained that farmers and hucksters had been selling them cellar and incubator eggs. Heretofore, they say, they have had to stand the loss and have been liable to prosecution. Under the new law any one who "offers putrid or decomposed matter, for sale, is liable to prosecution. This is construed to apply to eggs.

S.S.S. NATURE'S TONIC

The need of a tonic in the Spring is almost universally recognized. Bodily fatigue, fickle appetite, poor digestion, nervousness, lack of energy, etc., prove that the proper amount of nourishment is not being supplied to the body through the circulation. The stomach, bowels, and digestive members are sluggish from lack of stimulating nutrition, and in consequence the entire body suffers from the effects of a poorly nourished constitution. The use of a real blood-purifying tonic when the system is deranged from lack of nourishment, will often prevent the development of some serious sickness, because weak systems cannot resist disease, while healthy, well nourished constitutions are able to ward it off. No medicine is of value as a tonic except one which purifies and enriches the blood, for until this is done the body will not receive its required stimulus and disease-resisting powers. S. S. S. is the best Spring tonic because of its genuine ability and worth as a blood purifier. It builds up the depleted system in the true way, by purifying the blood and supplying an increased amount of nourishment to every portion of the body. S. S. S. removes all impurities from the circulation, and overcomes the unpleasant physical ailments of Spring. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

COUNCILMEN AT GARY EMPLOYING LAWYERS

Ugly Stories Afloat About Traction Deal.

Gary, Ind., May 19.—Commissioner of Public Works John J. Nyhoff received from Mayor Thomas E. Knotts, after he had denounced the latter for "double crossing" in the passage of the Geist traction franchise grab, a terse letter of dismissal stating that "You are hereby removed from your position as member of the board of public works for lying."

Mayor Knotts is now the only member of the board left. City Engineer Melton resigned a few days ago, and later he showed his contempt for the mayor by quitting his $10-a-day job as city consulting engineer. Melton has been associated with Knotts in an official capacity since Gary's founding, but he declares that the franchise deal is too much for him, and he has given out interviews denouncing the mayor as the betrayer of the public. Mayor Knotts was arrested last night by deputy sheriffs on warrants charging him with embezzlement, perjury and malfeasance in office. He gave bond in the sum of $5,000.

Scared by the press reports of the deal, most of the councilmen have retained counsel. Ugly stories of a $25,000 jackpot are being told, and it is now directly and definitely charged that most of those involved in the grab met in an office in the First National bank building, in Chicago, two days before the franchise was passed. Significance is attached to the actions of some of the councilmen appearing in new clothes and bedecked with diamonds the morning after the council meeting.

So widespread is the universal indignation against Knotts and the council's action in giving away the city streets for fifty years to C. H. Geist, the Philadelphia gas and traction magnate, that a large number of meetings are being planned, one to be held tonight.

PEACE MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

Hounds of Carnage Have Been Ordered Tethered.

MADERO WILL NOT BE OUTDONE

Following the Amiable Example of President Diaz, the Provisional President Says He Also will Resign as Soon as Diaz Is Out, Leaving Acting President De La Barra Free to Work Out Reconstruction Unhindered.

El Paso, Tex., May 19.—The hounds of carnage have been ordered tethered. So far as the northern region of Mexico and the insurrecto capital are concerned, the tethering has been successful and peace technically reigns throughout Mexico. Five days is the time fixed for the armistice, but before that time has expired the men behind the scenes declare that the peace pact will be bound up so hard and fast that all the revolutions in Christendom could not break it.

Francisco I. Madero will go at once to Mexico City to join Francisco De La Barra, who is to become de facto president on the retirement of President Diaz and Vice President Corral this month, in restoring normal conditions and launching the new government—a joint Madero-De La Barra government. Madero, who wired Diaz congratulations on his resignation, also wired De La Barra that he, Madero, would resign as provisional president as soon as Diaz is out and De La Barra takes office as acting president. It is quite probable that Madero will remain here until peace conditions are signed and his army is ordered disbanded and that he will then go direct to Mexico City and there remain at work with De La Barra in the restoration of order. Judge Carbajal and Madero will have frequent meetings during the next few days putting on paper the conditions attending the peace agreement already agreed upon. Insurrecto and federal leaders continue to express hearty belief in their ability to disband all contending armies and restore peace in a short time.

News of rebel activities are still received from many regions and in most cases, where the insurrectos have taken the towns they have been able to restore normal conditions in a remarkably short time and preserve peace and quiet.

The most severe fighting is reported from Corsala, in the state of Sinaloa, where the 400 federals defending the town fought a besieging force of 1,400 rebels for twelve days. The federals had no time to bury their dead, and the corpses decomposed under the sun.

Throughout Sonora the insurrectos are rapidly getting their government into condition. Inasmuch as the federals are all leaving the state, permission has been granted to repair the railroads, and all business will soon be resumed.

Information from Chihuahua says the foreigners and natives alike were overjoyed at receipt of the news of an armistice. The revolutionary movement is spreading in the state of Jalisco and the entire state, according to dispatches, and Guadalajara is virtually in possession of the rebels.

Not Ready to Disband.

Laredo, Tex., May 19.—General Gregorio Lecea, one of the leaders in the insurrecto forces of Tamaulipas now converging upon Nuevo Laredo, has announced that none of the men under him and other leaders in the field north of Monterey would disperse until after the general election included in the tentative peace terms which have been made the basis for the declaration of the armistice at Juarez.

TIBALDI, THE VIOLINIST.

Reason Why He Changed His Name From Larking.

Although professional names are common enough among artists, the reason for Arthur Larking, the violinist, calling himself professionally Arturo Tibaldi are interesting. Larking assumed the other name because of parental opposition to his adopting a professional career. The late Colonel Cuthbert Larking, father of the violinist, was for many years equerry to the late King Edward VII. He had mapped out for his son a military career, and the boy's name was entered at birth for the royal ride brigade, the Duke of Connaught's own regiment.

The boy was passionately fond of music, and the colonel finally gave in with the proviso that the name of Larking should not be used on the stage. He has been appearing on tour with Mary Garden.

Finally he brought the book closer to his eyes and appeared to be spelling out something on the page. A man who was standing near

RAILROAD FARES TO BE PAID

Friday, Saturday and Monday to Be Greatest Bargain Days in History of Seymour and Jackson County.

That the Special Bargain Sale in Seymour will mean everything that the words can possibly imply is an assured fact. Practically every merchant in the city has made a reduction of prices in his line of goods for this sale and those in need of anything from a dish pan to a complete outfit for a home or from a pair of hose to a complete clothing outfit, shoes and all, should avail themselves of this opportunity to lay in a supply of merchandise for spring and summer uses at unprecedented prices.

Not only have the merchants marked down the prices of their goods, but in addition to these reductions, they will refund the railroad fares to all out-of-town customers who buy anything to speak of at all.

So it can readily be seen that it will be a great opportunity for the people of this section to save money on anything they may need for some time to come.

An Explanation.

Many may wonder why the merchants of Seymour have united in a movement of this kind, but the reason is simple when explained. The idea was first conceived and it might be said promoted by the Republican. Each merchant was requested to make a cut in prices for three days, Friday, Saturday and Monday, May 19, 20 and 22, and at the same time agree to refund the railroad fares of all out-of-town customers on these three days. The plan met with the approval of nearly every merchant and as a result it will mean the biggest trading opportunity ever known to Seymour. Of course it has created competition among the merchants and each will try and undersell the other during this sale. Cost will have nothing to do with the selling price—it is now just a matter of getting rid of the goods.

But this is all the better for the people who have to buy and as stated above next Friday, Saturday and Monday will be a great opportunity to lay in the spring and summer's supply of merchandise at ridiculously low prices.

HOW TO GET YOUR FARE BACK

Persons coming to Seymour from any of the above named places to trade during this Big Combination Sale will get their railroad fares refunded providing their purchases amount to the sums designated in this schedule.

Refund fare slips will be furnished all merchants who have agreed to pay their proportion of the fares to out-of-town customers during this sale and in order for you to get your fare refunded you should obtain one of these slips of the first merchant from whom you make a purchase. This slip will contain a list of all the merchants who are in on the big combination sale, with blank space for each to put down the amount of your purchase. This slip is retained by you and afterwards presented at each store at which you buy anything during the day and then before you leave for home the slip is to be taken to the REPUBLICAN office where your fare will be refunded in cash providing your purchases during the day amount to the sum required according to the above schedule.

By this method it will be readily seen that you will not have to buy everything from one store, or the full amount required which entitles you to your fare back from any certain merchant, but on the contrary you can patronize as many different stores as you like and if your purchases amount to the required sum your fare will be refunded in cash by presenting the slip at the REPUBLICAN office anytime before leaving for home.

Farmers Included as Well as Townspeople

Fares will be refunded to all persons who come from a distance equal to any of the towns in the above schedule whether by team or rail. And this will include farmers as well as persons living in towns. The price of a railroad ticket to and from any of these places will be refunded to all persons whether farmers or townspeople who drive to Seymour to trade during this big sale just as though they came by the Southern Indiana, Pennsylvania, B. & O. or Interurban railroad. For instance a person residing in Brownstown or a farmer who lives nearer that place than any other towns from which fares are to be refunded, who drives to Seymour to trade during the sale will get the price of a railroad ticket providing his purchases amount to the required sum.

Amounts equivalent to railroad fares according to the distance will be refunded to all persons coming from or near any of the inland towns listed above the same as if located on the railroad. Come by team or rail and get your fare back or an amount equal to it. Read the schedule carefully and don't forget to ask the first merchant from whom you make a purchase for a refund fare slip, so you can keep account of your purchases.

REPRESENTATIVE BRANAMAN

Starts a Boom For Auditor of State
O'Brien For Governor.

Representative Branaman of this county, has started something. The Indianapolis Sun Thursday evening said:

"John C. Branaman, of Brownstown, who represents Jackson county in the lower house of the general assembly, has been in the city several days attending to business, rooting for the Indianapolis ball team and incidentally talking about Auditor of State O'Brien as a candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination."

Mr. O'Brien says he is thoroughly satisfied with his job as auditor of state and doesn't want to be governor. But this doesn't prevent the Jackson county representative from being enthusiastically for him. He regards Auditor O'Brien as the strongest man the Indiana democrats could select to lead them to victory.

"In my opinion Mr. O'Brien is the logical candidate for governor next year," said Branaman. "He is personally popular everywhere and has a wide acquaintance all over the state. He would prove a better vote-getter than any man who has been mentioned for the nomination."

"Another point in Mr. O'Brien's favor is that he would have the support of all classes. Business men would have confidence in him and at the same time he stands high with labor. He is an astute politician as well as an able business man. Nobody could bring up anything against either his political or private record."

Magazine Club.

The Friday Afternoon Magazine Club held a guest day meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Whitmer on North Chestnut street.

A special program was given by Miss Francis K. Durland, reader, of Cincinnati, Miss Amy Lewellyn, pianist, of Columbus, Miss Hannah Mills, soprano and Mr. Don Bollinger, tenor, of this city. The program was:

"A Day in June"—form "Vision of Sir Launfal".....Lowell
Silver Spring.....Wm. Mason
Higher Culture in Dixie Dorothy Dix
O that We Two were Maying.....Nevin
One of the Misdemeanors of Nancy.....Eleanor Hoyt

Miss Hoffmann in Play.

"The Trysting Tree," a poetic play by Nann Clark Barr was presented at the Western College Tree Day at Oxford, Ohio. Miss Barr is a member of the Senior class, which presented the play. The campus offered an excellent setting, the scenes being laid in England in the time of Robin Hood. The carefully drawn characters and the easily moving action of the plot gave ample opportunity for the exercise of the Seniors' historic ability. Miss Agnes Hoffmann, of Seymour, was especially successful in her part.

FOUR SHOTS

Were Fired at Supposed Thieves
Without Effect.

About 10 o'clock Thursday night unknown parties broke into the garage in the rear of Jerry Anderson's residence on South Chestnut street. Neighbors noticed the men prowling around the house and notified Mrs. Anderson.

The latter taking a revolver, stepped out on a back porch and seeing three men near the garage, opened fire.

She fired three shots, but probably owing to excitement, she failed to hit any of the intruders. They ran out of the yard the back way and Carl Breitfield, who had notified Mrs. Anderson of their presence, took a shot at them but also failed to hit the fleeing targets. He states that there were four men in the party.

No property was taken by the supposed thieves.

It is thought probable the men were after tools, possibly for use in breaking into some residence or store. Mr. Anderson was not at home at the time the trouble occurred, not having returned from Indianapolis where he had spent the day.

WANTS DAMAGES.

For Injury Which He Received in the Railroad Yards Here.

The suit of Ralph Kennedy against the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroad company for damages which has been on trial in the Daviess county circuit court, has been finished but Judge Ogden, before whom the case was tried, has not announced his decision. Kennedy wants damages for the loss of two fingers in an accident which occurred in the railroad yards in Seymour in 1909. He was a brakeman and at the time of the accident had just alighted from a car on train 51 when a car load of cinders, according to his claim, ran into him, causing his injury.

REFUND DAY.

Tickets Came in Early This Morning.

No large trading was anticipated today on the combination sale and rebate of railroad fares which is being conducted by the Seymour business men, but the slips for refund of fares began coming in at intervals all day. Farmers are very busy just now and this fact has been recognized all along by every business man, but the first day's returns are an indication that Saturday and Monday will be big days in all lines of trade.

Engagement Announced.

Miss Gladys Kyte entertained the members of the Sewing Club last night at dinner at her home on North Walnut street. Covers were laid for twelve young ladies in the prettily decorated dining room. After the guests were seated, Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Kyte announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gladys, to L. J. Francisco, of Richmond.

Little heart shaped announcement cards were used as place cards at the table. A two course luncheon was served and the favors were white rose buds. The color scheme of green and white was prominent in the dining room. The announcement was a surprise to the many friends of Miss Kyte. The wedding will occur some time in the early summer.

School Notes.

The German comedy "Ein Amerikanisches Duell," given by the German department of the high school last night was well presented and enjoyed by all.

The schools of the entire city entertained the parents this afternoon and gave them an opportunity to see and inspect the work done by the pupils of the different grades during the past school year.

This evening a recital will be given by the 7th and 8th grades of the Shields high school in the assembly room. A chorus of 125 voices, assisted by the high school orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Gast, will furnish the entertainment. It is free to the parents and those interested in the school.

Surprise Party.

Mrs. Harry Gosney was given a pleasant surprise in honor of her birthday Thursday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. Henry Liebrandt, 324, Elmore Avenue. The evening was spent in games and music until a late hour when refreshments were served.

Dr. S. W. Shields of Brownstown, was in Seymour Thursday evening on his way home from Indianapolis, where he attended the meeting of the Indiana Dental Association.

Rev. G. M. Shutts went to Columbus Thursday evening on business.

PRESBYTERIANS IN HOT CONTEST

Sharp Words Mark the Election of Moderator.

"BRASS BAND CAMPAIGNING"

It is Thus That the Candidacy of the Rev. Dr. John F. Carson, Newly Elected Moderator, Was Referred to by Those Who Put His Opponents in Nomination—Retiring Moderator's
Sermon Praised Woodrow Wilson.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 19.—After the most spirited contest in the history of the organization, Rev. John F. Carson, D.D., pastor of the Central church of Brooklyn, was elected moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church on the second ballot. Charges and counter charges made by clergymen in nominating the candidates featured the election. Bold charges of "brass band campaigning" conducted by backers of candidates were made by Dr. W. Francis Irwin of Louisville, Ky., who named Rev. F. H. Hitt of Danville, Ky.

"A man asked me how many votes I had for my candidate," he declared. "I consider that an insult to the Presbyterian church. Our candidate is not carrying around photographs in his pocket or working through advertising agencies."

Dr. John R. Davies of Philadelphia, who nominated Rev. John Dickson of Trenton, declared "we also came here without a brass band campaign, believing all such methods are a disgrace to the church of which Christ is head."

These statements threw the assembly into wild applause. Nomination of Dr. Carson was made by Dr. S. Palmer of Columbus, Ohio, who characterized his candidate as "the man who fought rum and kept the Bible in the public schools of New York, and the first man congratulated by Governor Hughes at the end of the racetrack fight."

"The greatest danger that faces this country is not the Jews and the Romans, but Mormonism," asserted Dr. Joseph L. Weaver of Rocky Ford, Col. in putting up Rev. M. A. Matthews of Seattle as the man to lead the fight.

The result of the first ballot cast gave Dr. Carson a vote of 347, Dr. Matthews 219, Dr. Hitt 139, and Dr. Dickson 137. The latter withdrew. The second ballot gave Dr. Carson a total of 454. His needed vote was 402. Dr. Matthews polled 318 votes and Dr. Hitt 120.

The sermon of Rev. Charles Little of Wabash, Ind., the retiring moderator, paid a high tribute to Governor Wilson of New Jersey and appealed to the commissioners to face the problems, spiritual, political and otherwise, with modern progressiveness.

Will Discuss "Elect Infants."

Louisville, Ky., May 19.—With every state south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers represented, the fifty-first session of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States (Southern Presbyterian church) was convened here and will continue until May 26. Divorce and marriage and the "elect infant" clause of the Westminster confession of faith will be the principal topics for consideration.

A SHOCKING FATE

New Jersey Man and Young Woman
Burned to Death Beneath Auto.

Dover, N. J., May 19.—Slowly burned to death as they were pinioned beneath a large auto which had turned turtle as they were rounding a curve at Chester, was the fate of Edward D. Middlekauff, a broker of Plainfield, and his companion, Miss Elsie Walpole of Scotch Plains. Miss Walpole was evidently rendered unconscious, but Middlekauff was conscious when the gasoline tank exploded, igniting his clothes and slowly roasting him to death. His cries of agony could be heard for blocks. Attempts to raise the upturned car were made, but it was not until a team with block and tackle could be procured that the car was raised. By that time both victims had been burned to a crisp.

BACK TO THE MINES

Tom Lewis Resumes Work With the Pick and Shovel.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 19.—Tom L. Lewis, former president of the United Mine Workers, has returned to his old occupation as a digger of coal in Wheeling Creek mine, where he worked before being elected to his first official position in the mine workers' organization. He is using the pick and shovel given him by the Columbus miners' convention last January when he announced he would return to the mines if defeated for re-election.

Mrs. Taft Still Improving.

Washington, May 19.—Mrs. Taft arrived in Washington yesterday afternoon. She was greeted at the station by the president and was driven at once to the White House. Her condition shows great improvement and the journey from New York had no ill effects. She will not attend the social functions at the White House for a while, but after a rest here will go to Hot Springs, Va., for a brief stay.

Rheumatism Comes From Bad Kidneys

Once Your Kidneys Work Properly, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease and Bladder Trouble Disappear. How To Cure Yourself.

It is no longer necessary to spend months and months undergoing a complicated treatment for rheumatism, kidney or bladder trouble, or spend a good many dollars in doctors' bills. A new treatment can now be obtained which seems to act more like a marvel than a medicine. This treatment has produced such satisfactory results in a short time that it is now guaranteed from first to last.

There should be no more doubt about the rapid cure of rheumatism, no fears of the fatal termination of treacherous kidney disease or dropsy. Rheumatism means nothing more nor less than that your kidneys do not work properly. Your blood passes through the kidneys hundreds of times a day to be filtered and purified. When the kidneys are weak the poisons are not taken out of the blood as they should be. This leads to various diseases, such as rheumatism, terrible Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy and bladder trouble.

The new guaranteed treatment is Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills. One day's use of them will prove their remarkable effect. M. T. Ridenour of Lima, Ohio, says: "When I feel bad in my back, I just take a couple of Derby's Kidney Pills and get immediate relief."

If you have rheumatism anywhere, back pains, cloudy, foul urine, pains in the bladder, Bright's disease or diabetes, put your whole confidence in Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills, and you will not be disappointed.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are sold at all drug stores—25 and 50 cents, or we will send them direct from the laboratory of Derby Medicine Co., Eaton Rapids, Mich., prepaid, if you wish. If you want to try them first, just tell your druggist to give you a free sample package.

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

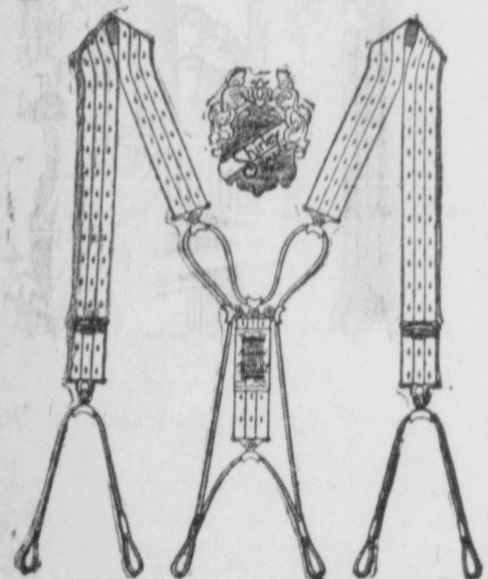

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

CHAPTER XIII.

ON IT WAS WRITTEN—

SWEETWATER'S night's rest had not benefited him. He had seemed natural enough all through the lengthy conference, but a half hour later any one who knew him well would have seen at a first glance that his spirits were no longer at par.

When at 2 o'clock he entered the clubhouse grounds it was without buoyancy or any of the natural animation with which he usually went about his work. He wandered down on the golf links. Taking out his watch, he satisfied himself that he had time for an experiment and immediately started for Cuthbert road. An hour later he came wandering back on a different line. He looked soured, disappointed. When near the building again he cast his eye over his rear and gazed long and earnestly at the window which had been pointed out to him as the one from which a possible light had shone forth that night. There were no trees on this side of the house—only vines. But the vines were bare of leaves and offered no obstruction to his view. "If there had been a light in that window any one leaving this house by the rear would have seen it unless he had been drunk or a fool," muttered Sweetwater, in contemptuous comment to himself.

"Arthur Cumberland's story is one lie. I'll take the district attorney's suggestion and return to New York to-night. My work's done here."

Yet he hung about the links for a long time and finally ended by entering the house and taking up his stand beneath the long narrow window of the closet overlooking the golf links. With chin resting on his arms, he stared out over the sill and sought from the space before him and from the intricacies of his own mind the hint he lacked to make this present solution of the case satisfactory to all his instincts.

What was that he saw in the vines—not on the snow of the ground, but halfway up in the tangle of small branches clinging close to the stone of the lower story, just beneath this window?

He surely could see—something that glistened, something that could only have got there by falling from this window. Could he reach it? No; he would have to climb up from below to do that. Well, that was easy enough.

With the thought, he at once rushed from the room. In another minute he was beneath that window; had climbed, pulled, pushed his way up; had found the little pocket of netted vines observable from above; had thrust in his fingers and worked a small object out; had looked at it, uttered an exclamation curious in its mixture of suppressed emotions and let himself down again into the midst of the two or three men who had scented the adventure and hastened to be witnesses of its outcome.

"A vial," he exclaimed, "an empty vial, but"— Holding the little bottle up between his thumb and forefinger, he turned it slowly about until the label faced them.

On it was written one word, but it was a word which invariably carries alarm with it.

That word was poison.

Sweetwater did not return to New York that night.

"I regret to disturb you, Arthur, but my business is of great importance and should be made known to you at once."

Sullen and unmollified, the young man thus addressed eyed apprehensively his father's old friend, placed so unfortunately in his regard, and morosely exclaimed:

"Out with it! I'm a poor hand at guessing. What has happened now?"

"A discovery—a somewhat serious one, I fear; at least it will force the police to new action. Your sister may not have died entirely from strangulation. Other causes may have been at work!"

"Now, what do you mean by that?" Arthur Cumberland was under his own roof and in presence of one who should have inspired his respect, but he made no effort to hide the fury which these words called up. "I should like to know what devilry is in your minds now. Am I never to have peace?"

"Peace and tragedy do not often run together," came in the mild tones of his would-be friend. "Mr. Ranelagh's assertion that he found Miss Cumberland dead when he approached her may not be, as so many now believe, the reckless denial of a criminal disturbed in his act. It may have had a basis in fact."

"I don't believe it. Nothing will make me believe it," stormed the other, jumping up and wildly pacing the drawing room door. "It is all a scheme for saving the most popular man in society. But you haven't told me your discovery. It seems to me it is a little late to make discoveries now."

"This was brought about by the persistence of Sweetwater. He seems to have an instinct for things. He was leaning out of the window at the rear of the clubhouse—the window of that small room where your sister's coat was found—and he saw, caught in the vines beneath, a little bottle, an apothecary's vial. It was labeled 'Poison' and it came from this very house."

"How do you know that vial came from this house?"

Dr. Perry looked up, astonished. He was prepared for the most frantic ebullitions of wrath, for violence even, or for dull, stupid, blank silence. But this calm, quiet question of fact took him by surprise. He dropped his anxious look and replied:

"It has been seen on the shelves by more than one of your servants. Your sister kept it with her medicines, and the druggist with whom you deal remembers selling it some time ago to a member of your family."

"Which member? I don't believe this story; I don't believe any of your"— He was fast verging on violence now.

"You will have to, Arthur. Facts are facts, and we cannot go against them. The person who bought it was yourself. Perhaps you can recall the circumstance now."

"I cannot." He did not seem to be quite master of himself. "I don't know half the things I do; at least, I didn't use to. But what are you coming to? Are you going to call it suicide? You can't, with those marks on her throat."

"We're going to carry out our investigations to the full. We're going to hold the autopsy, which we didn't think necessary before. That's why I am here, Arthur. I thought if your due to know our intentions in regard to this matter. If you wish to be present you have only to say so; if you do not you may trust me to remember that she was your father's daughter as well as my own highly esteemed friend."

Shaken to the core, the young man sat down.

"My duty is here," he said at last. "I cannot leave Carmel."

"The autopsy will take place tomorrow. How is Carmel today?"

"No better." The words came with a shudder. "Doctor, I've been a brute to you. I am a brute! I have misused my life and have no strength with which to meet trouble. What you propose to do with—Adelaide is horrible to me. I didn't love her much while she was living, but if I could have saved her body this last humiliation I would willingly die right here and now and be done with it. Must this autopsy take place?"

"It must."

"Then tell them to lock up every bottle the house holds or I cannot answer for myself. I should like to drink and drink till I knew nothing, cared for nothing, was a madman or a beast."

"You will not drink." The coroner's voice rang deep; he was greatly moved. "You will not drink, and you will come to the office at 5 o'clock tomorrow. We may have only good news to impart. We may find nothing to complicate the situation."

Arthur Cumberland shook his head. "It's not what you will find"— said he, and stopped, biting his lips and looking down.

Twenty-four hours later, in the coroner's office, sat an anxious group discussing the great case and the possible revelations awaiting them. The district attorney, Mr. Clifton, the chief of police and one or two others, among them Sweetwater, made up the group and carried on the conversation. Dr. Perry only was absent. He had undertaken to make the autopsy and had been absent for this purpose several hours.

Five o'clock had struck, and they were momentarily looking for his reappearance, but when the door opened, as it did at this time, it was to admit young Cumberland, whose white face and shaking limbs betrayed his suspense and nervous anxiety.

The door opened again and the coroner appeared, looking not so much depressed as stunned. Picking out Arthur from the group, he advanced toward him with some commonplace remark, but desisted suddenly and turned upon the others instead.

"I have finished the autopsy," said he. "I knew just what poison the vial had held and lost no time in my various tests. A minute portion of this drug, which is dangerous only in large quantities, was found in the stomach of the deceased, but not enough to cause serious trouble, and she died, as we already decided, from the effect of the murderous clutch upon her throat. But," he went on sternly as young Cumberland moved and showed signs of breaking in with one of his violent invectives against the supposed assassin. "I made another discovery of still greater purport. When we lifted the body out of its resting place something besides withered flowers slid from her breast and fell at our feet. The ring, gentlemen—the ring which Ranelagh says was missing from her hand when he came upon her and which certainly was not on her finger when she was laid in the casket—rolled to the floor when we moved her. Here it is. There is one person here, at least, who can identify it. But I do not ask that person to speak. That we may well spare him."

He laid the ring on the table, not too near Arthur, not within reach of his hand, but close enough for him to see it. Then he sat down and hid his face in his hands. The last few days had told on him. He looked older by ten years than he had at the beginning of the month.

The silence which followed these words and this action was memorable to everybody there concerned. Some had seen and all had heard of young Cumberland's desperate interruption of the funeral and the way his hand had invaded the flowers which the children had cast in upon her breast. When at last Arthur looked up it was with a dazed air and an almost humble mien.

"Providence has me this time," he muttered. "I don't understand these mysteries. You will have to deal with them as you think best."

Turning away, he made for the door. There was in his manner desperation approaching to bravado, but no man made the least effort to detain him. Not till he was well out of the room did any one move; then the district attorney raised his finger, and Arthur Cumberland did not ride back to his home alone.

Hot Stuff.

A cawpuncher upon one of his frequent visits to town went into a restaurant and ordered a steak. When it was served he looked over the assortment of bottles in the center of the table and, selecting one which was new to him, poured the contents liberally over his meat. He cut off a generous bite, and the observers watched its progress to his mouth with some interest, for the bottle had contained tabasco sauce.

He tried in vain to swallow the morsel on his tongue while surprise changed to anguish in his face. Finally he jumped to his feet, and as he ejected the bite violently to the floor, he yelled:

"Blaze—durn you, blaze!"—Lippincott's.

Undesirable Confirmation.

Senator John Kern of Indiana tells this story about his predecessor, the late Senator Dan Voorhees:

Voorhees frequently made the claim that more Democrats than Republicans had been enrolled from Indiana in the Union army during the war between the states. On one occasion he made the assertion in connection with a speech in Sullivan county.

"I guess anybody will admit that considerably more than half the people who went into the Union army from Sullivan county were Democrats," he declared with emphasis.

A Democrat down in one of the front rows had taken a drink or two before he came to the meeting, and he confirmed Voorhees' statements.

"Yes; it's true," he shouted. "God darn it, they drafted us!"—Indianapolis Star.

Mine Plant Run by Air Bubbles

PLACE in a mining camp a modern department store completely equipped with telephone service and automobile delivery and selling hydraulic energy over the counter in hundred pound packages, and the city bred man may get a fair idea of what a power plant means to an industrial community 1,000 miles from its coal supply. Up in the Canadian wilderness such power as this is more of a miracle than a brick flat with steam heat and porcelain tubs, for the miner can exist without a bath, but he can't uncover pay rock without power to drive the drills that do it.

When the price of coal in northern Ontario began to eat into the ore profits the miners harnessed the Montreal river for power.

Ragged Chutes, the point where the miners located their plant, is a natural water power in itself. It is ten miles from Cobalt. Here the river for about 1,000 yards whirs down a thirty-five foot grade and for four seasons in the year is a boiling, tossing torrent.

The theory as practiced was to drop this surging tide down a 300 foot shaft near the top of the rapids, then to catch the air bubbles as they rose from the water, racing through a subterranean chamber toward a tail shaft leading up again to the bed of the river 1,000 feet downstream.

A Big Undertaking.

Building this power plant was about one hundred times more of a proposition than its originators foresaw. First the low masonry dam was completed, 660 feet across the river, the waterways thus erected having a capacity of 1,200 cubic feet per second. Immediately above the dam, in the center of a large concrete basin, two eight-foot steel shafts, each containing sixty-six pipes fourteen inches in diameter, were sunk to a depth of 350 feet. A thousand feet downstream the other shaft was sunk into the rocky bed, and then in three shifts, and working day and night, the miners chopped a subterranean chamber connecting the two shafts at the upper end of the rapids.

THE BLOWOFF AT THE FOOT OF THE RAPIDS WHICH REGULATES THE PRESSURE IN THE AIR CHAMBER BENEATH THE BED OF THE STREAM.

With the single one at the lower. They cut this great underground raceway twenty-two feet wide along its entire length, twenty-six and a half feet high at the bottom of the shafts and forty-two feet high in the central part of the tunnel. The whole undertaking was hazardous to an extreme, but neither officers nor men will admit it. It was all in the day's work with them. Moreover, the camp at Cobalt had begun to taunt them, and they were going to finish the job or "bust."

Across the ridges above the hole where the rapids roared gangs of timber jacks in the meanwhile chopped a path straight through the scrub toward Cobalt. Swamps, where men sank to their armpits, were filled in with rock and timber, and before work on the power plant was completed they had laid seven miles of corduroy road for the big steel pipe line—this twenty-inch lap welded pipe line of German steel, which was to carry the air eventually and was laid in sections as it arrived, the various loops and feeders ranging from twelve to three inches in diameter.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 21, 1911

SON OF THE VINEYARD. ISAIAH 5:1-12.

GOLDEN TEXT:—Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strenght to mingle strong drink.

Our lesson title, "Song of the Vineyard," must be considered in the light of the first verse, "A song of my beloved touching his vineyard." In Ezek. xv we learn that the only use of the vine is to bear fruit, and, failing in that, it is good for nothing. In John xv we learn that fruitless branches are gathered by men and burned, like the salt which has no savor and is good for nothing but to be trodden underfoot of men (Matt. v. 13).

Verse 7 of our lesson tells us that the house of Israel is the Lord's vineyard here referred to and the men of Judah His pleasant plant, but instead of producing the desired fruit they were yielding only wild grapes, described in the sixfold woe of the chapter and in Hos. x, 1, as an empty vine bringing forth fruit unto himself. According to the six woes, they were mighty to drink wine, enjoy pleasures, gather property, call things by their wrong names and sin.

He brought them out of Egypt, cast out the nations before them and planted them in a good land, but because of their sin He had to turn His face from them, and their only hope was in the man of His right hand, the son of man strong for God (Ps. lxxx, 8-19). According to our lesson, He had done everything for them that could be done for a vineyard, but as in the parable of Matt. xxi, 33-41, they beat and killed His servants and even the heir to the vineyard also. According to our lesson chapter, they regard not the work of the Lord nor consider the operation of His hands, but cast away the law of the Lord of hosts and despised the word of the Holy One of Israel (verses 12-24).

His pitiful cry over them is always the same, whether through the prophets or through His Son. "I am the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt. Open thy mouth wide and I will fill it, but My people would not harken to My voice, and Israel would none of Me" (Ps. lxxxi, 10, 11). "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, * * * how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not" (Matt. xxiii, 37). Such unbelieving people who turn away from God and His word are said to be "drunken, but not with wine; they stagger, but not with strong drink" (Isa. xxix, 9).

It is most interesting to note that in the chapter following our lesson chapter we have a vision of the earth filled with the glory of the Lord. Compare verses 11, 12 and 22 with chapter vi, 3. Better say, contrast the drunkenness with the glory. Then note the same contrast in Hab. ii, 14, 15, and Eph. v, 18, and observe that at Pentecost spirit filled people were said to be full of new wine (Acts ii, 4-13). There is no remedy for self righteous, self pleasing, unbelieving people, but such a sight of Jesus Christ dying for their sins as will break their hard hearts and lead them to cry, "God, be merciful to me, a sinner." One cannot do this for another, but He who said "I am the true vine" said also concerning the Holy Spirit, "He will convince of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment" (John xvi, 7, 8).

If we have been redeemed by precious blood and been caused to see something of the beauty of the Lord it is not for us to condemn other sinners nor think them hopeless, but so manifest Jesus Christ to them by word and deed that the Spirit may, through us if He will, reveal Jesus Christ to them and lead them to Him. There is just one thing that the vine is for, and if we are real branches of the true vine He will bear the desired fruit that God may be glorified if we truly abide.

That fruit may not be any great thing that will gain the admiration of people, but just a meek and quiet spirit, patient and long suffering. It may be, under great provocation or even cruelty. Think of the Lord's patience with Israel and with each of us and consider Him who endured lest ye be weary. Think of being strengthened with all might, according to His glorious power, unto all patience and long suffering, with joyfulness (Col. i, 11). Remember that the fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, self control (Gal. v, 22, 23), and all that is opposed is from the adversary.

By the word of God and the spirit of God we must first be saved and then by the same word and spirit abide and bear fruit. The question of verse 4, "What could have been done more to My vineyard that I have not done in it?" suggests the question for every sinner, drunken or sober, for all have sinned and all are guilty (Rom. iii, 12). What more could the Lord do that He has not done for your salvation? Consider John iii, 16, and answer as to what more is necessary.

If you do not yield to such love and receive Him as your personal Savior and then so abide that He may bear fruit through you and gather fruit from you it must be true of you that you are despising His word and disregarding His great work on your behalf and thus continuing under the wrath of God (John iii, 36).

"JOE" CANNON IS HAPPY AT 75

World Good Enough For Him Despite Demagogues.

BETTER THAN FIFTY YEARS AGO

Hopes He Won't Live to See the Millennium—Age of Content and Idleness Would Take Ginger Out of the Human Race, He Thinks.

Uncle Joe Cannon, who has just passed his seventy-fifth milestone, avers that he has never been better physically or happier in his life. "Man may talk of the hard old world we have to live in, demagogues may wander about the country retelling stories of the impending dangers that beset our government, politicians may rant against the abuses that are being carried on in favor of the few and to the detriment of the many, but as for me—I am as happy as a schoolboy," he said.

Predicts a Great Future. "I'm not going to tell you what strides the country has made in the past half century. It isn't necessary. All any one has to do is to look at the population, immigration and production statistics to see that we have progressed as no other nation in the world has ever progressed in anything like the same time. As for the future, I believe progress will be just as great. It is only a matter of time before we shall have a population of 500,000,000 people living in this land.

"This country is good enough for me, and I pay little heed to the men who would belittle the progress that we have made. The Democrats hold that we Republicans have not kept things moving in the right direction during the time we have been in power. Let them compare the progress that has been made while we have been in power and while they were in control. They'll admit that we have done pretty well on the whole. Of course mistakes have been made, but outlining the course of a nation is no child's work. Men will err in spite of their best intentions.

"When people talk to me about the hardships of the world today it almost makes me laugh. If they had to go through what I had to go through and what every other man and woman endured half a century ago they would not talk such nonsense. Why, life is one continual round of pleasure today compared with the days when we had no railroads or even decent roadways and a thousand and one other improvements that have been brought about in the past half century.

Balks at the Millennium. "Every class of people in this country is better off and happier today than in the so called 'good old days.' I do not mean that the rich, the middle class or the upper class alone are better off and happier, but I mean that the working man and woman, the professional man and all other classes are better off and far happier than they could have dreamed of being fifty years ago.

"The trouble is that people are always looking for the millennium, and that is the one thing that I do not want to live to see. I would not like to be in this land when that so called happy age came about. The human animal isn't worth a d— unless he has to fight against adversity—it brings out the real manly qualities. And when that age of content and idleness comes to pass this world will be no place for Uncle Joe Cannon."

POLICE DOGS FOR LONDON. "Bobbies" Get Permission to Use Trained Animals. Continental and British police have found trained dogs, particularly the Alredale type, of great service to officers, and permission to use them has been given by Scotland Yard.

It is understood London police will have to purchase their dogs, but that maintenance money will be allowed.

BLIND ART CRITIC.

Makes Fun of Goliath's Whiskers in Kansas City Gallery.

A blind man as a critic of art appeared at the Western Gallery of Art in the public library at Kansas City and in showing those in charge defects in various statues proved his knowledge. When he came into the building he asked an assistant to show him around so that he could "study."

The first thing the blind man touched was a statue of David with Goliath's head at the base. After carefully feeling the head of Goliath he chuckled and said:

"Why, look at his whiskers. No one, even Goliath, ever wore whiskers parted in that fashion."

WASHED FEET OF THE POOR.

Queen of Spain Performs a Remarkable Act of Christian Humility.

On Holy Thursday Queen Victoria of Spain took part for the first time in the ceremony of washing the feet of poor people, an act of Christian humility which has been performed by Spanish monarchs since the middle of the thirteenth century. In the hall of the columns in the royal palace of Madrid were set two tables, each with twelve plates on them. With their backs to the table (six a side) sat twelve old men and twelve old women.

QUEEN WASHING POOR WOMEN'S FEET.

en. Before each poor person was a small basin, water for the washing and towels for the drying.

King Alfonso washed the feet of the old men and kissed them. The queen washed the feet of the old women, but did not kiss them. Grandees of Spain or their wives, as the case might be, removed the socks of the old people and put a drop of water on their feet. The king and queen dried the feet. The queen was attended by her lord chamberlain, who carried her train over his shoulder, and others, the king by the master of the palace, personal attendants, grandees, and so on.

After this part of the ceremony the plates on the tables were filled with food and handed to the poor people, while the archbishop handed each a small sum of money.

Indiana Old Soldiers Present Imposing Array.

SONS OF VETERANS IN LINE

For the First Time in the History of the Two Organizations in This State the Junior Veterans Form in Parade With Their Sires—Presence of Thousands of Children Along the Line of March Creates Enthusiasm.

Richmond, Ind., May 19.—More than 3,000 civil war veterans, members of Indiana department, Grand Army of the Republic, participated in the annual parade with steps a trifle unsteady, but with hearts as light as a half century ago, when they made quick response to the first call to arms in the nation's defense.

It was an impressive pageant, this line of gray-haired men. They marched in fours to the music of bands that played inspiring airs familiar to their ears in the days of war. Cheer after cheer went up from the spectators as the line moved through the streets and the veterans with hats in hand waved their response to the enthusiastic demonstration of welcome. As the column wheeled into North A street it passed between rows of school children seated on stands that extended on both sides of the street for more than a square. There were more than 2,500 of these girls and boys, each with Stars and Stripes in hand, and singing in chorus patriotic songs of the rebellion. The presence of the children stirred the veterans to a high point of enthusiasm.

The reviewing stand was near Ninth street, and the column here was greeted by past state officers of the Grand Army and its auxiliary bodies. Sons of Veterans to the number of more than 500 were in line, following immediately the Grand Army, and it was the first time in the history of the state that these two organizations had taken part in the same parade. Numerous uniform companies representing secret societies in the city, also participated.

Farmer By Ruse Gets Son to Kill Him.

Greenwich, Conn., May 19.—Fred Husted, a prosperous farmer, aged forty-six, prevailed upon his twelve-year-old son Lester to pull the trigger of his shotgun which blew his father's head off. He called the boy to the kitchen and, picking up a double-barrelled shotgun, he laid it on the kitchen table and told the boy to pull the trigger, as he wanted to see how it sounded. The man knelt on the floor on the opposite side of the table, cocked one eye and looked directly into the muzzle of the gun, which was about four inches away. The boy hesitated and his father said, "It is not loaded," so the boy snapped the hammer, but let them go easily, holding them with his thumb, and the piece did not explode. His father arose, took the rifle from the table, cocked it again and laid it back in the same position, while he got on his knees and again looked into the barrel.

"It is not loaded, pull the trigger and see how it sounds," he again told the boy. The boy did as told and the father dropped dead instantly, the whole left side of his head being blown off. The verdict of the coroner was that it was a case of suicide.

NO SECRET ABOUT THIS!

Did you read the other day about a certain prominent Mail Order merchant who was fined a large round sum by Uncle Sam for defrauding people through the mails? He advertised a so called vacuum cleaner which didn't clean. The government brought together at great expense a number of persons from various parts of the country, who testified to the worthlessness of the device. It cost Uncle Sam money, but he got it back in the fine paid by the Mail Order merchant.

The worthless vacuum cleaner cost these witnesses and many others money, but they didn't get it back, and they never will.

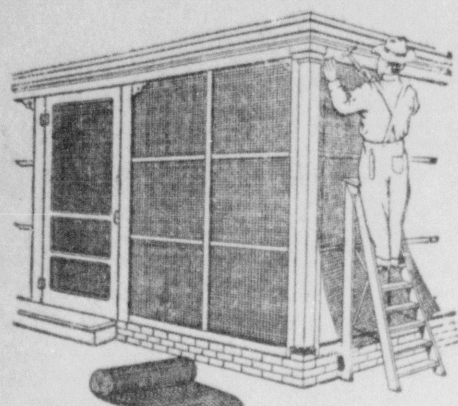

Plenty of other such concerns are working other frauds upon the public. Persons who buy a pig in a poke can expect to get bitten.

It is no secret that the country is populous with people who have been bitten by the Mail Order pig.

Here's the secret of satisfaction in buying things: Trade at home, where you can see what you're getting for your money.

Ed Donahue, fireman on the B. & O. Bedford branch, told us a good story illustrating the intelligence of a dog. One day last week as his train was coming from Bedford to Riverdale, a little black dog was trying to pass over a trestle. It looked as though nothing could prevent the train passing over and killing the dog. It was useless to try to stop the train in so short a distance. The little dog realized the danger he was in and quickly ran to the side of the trestle and stood far out on the sill on top of the ties. By doing this the train could pass without hitting him, although it came uncomfortably close. After the train passed, the dog came on over unhurt.—Mitchell Commercial.
